

After the war, there was great euphoria
and a sense of departure.

